

Provider Finance Faculty
The finance network for NHS Trusts

Building a supportive network

Join the faculty that's led by providers –
sharing knowledge, expertise and steering policy

“We have benefited from being a member of the Provider Finance Faculty over a number of years.
The ability to debate and share learning with colleagues within the sector has improved what we do as an organisation and as a group of Trusts”

Deputy Chief Executive
Basildon & Thurrock University Hospitals NHS FT

Building a supportive network

There's a reason why over 200 Trusts have joined our Provider Finance Faculty.

Access to immeasurable insight, knowledge and expertise is just one reason. But membership of the Provider Finance Faculty goes far beyond that.

You'll become part of a network of finance professionals that carries genuine influence within the sector, a network that can steer national policy.

You'll also gain valuable new contacts that you can learn from and exchange the latest thinking on best practice.

Your platform to share and influence...

Directors' forum

These high level briefings have been developed to give directors an opportunity to network with peers in an informal, interactive environment. The forums are held throughout the year, are operated under the Chatham house rules and are addressed by influential leaders in the healthcare sector.

Technical forum

These two half-day events held twice a year give finance directors and senior finance staff an opportunity to discuss the hot topics that have been raised at our Technical Issues Group as well as any other sector-specific concerns in a relaxed, open atmosphere.

A work programme led by the NHS...

Technical issues group

Our technical issues group (TIG) made up of senior finance staff from provider trusts as well as representatives from NHS Improvement. The group looks at the technical aspects of provider finance and supports the development of the HFMA's technical work in this area.

The TIG also actively informs the faculty's work programme, in terms of topics to be covered in forums and conferences, as well as technical work to be undertaken by HFMA on provider finance issues.
