

Mental Health Finance Faculty
Providing a platform for influence

A platform to share, collaborate and influence

Bringing together the finance community within mental health

“We are a member of the Mental Health Finance Faculty and their events consistently attract high calibre speakers – individuals who are at the forefront of influencing and developing national policy”

Director of Finance
Nottinghamshire Healthcare
NHS Foundation Trust

A platform to share, collaborate and influence

There's a reason why all Mental trusts have decided to join our faculty. Our Mental Health Finance Faculty is a unique network involving every mental health trust in England. It brings together finance professionals working in the mental health sector in an informal, forward-thinking environment.

It gives peers working within the sector an opportunity to share, learn and collaborate with those facing similar issues. Not only does it offer a valuable support network, it enables finance professionals to keep up-to-speed with the latest developments and, through collective opinion, influence the direction of national policy.

Join as a faculty member and your staff will be given access to this highly interactive, inclusive network, which will enable your organisation to participate in important issues relating to the mental health sector.

Your platform to share and influence...

Mental Health Finance Faculty Directors' forum

These high-level briefings held twice a year give directors an opportunity to discuss and debate issues specifically affecting providers of mental health services. Hosted by eminent leaders in the mental health field, faculty membership entitles you to two free places at Mental Health Finance Faculty forums where you can meet other directors facing the same challenges.

These informal and interactive get-togethers provide focused debate and operate under the Chatham house rule.

Mental Health Finance Faculty one-day forum

At the Mental Health Finance Faculty forums staff can talk about the latest issues and build a network of peers that are facing similar challenges. This one-day event provides focused debate and guidance on specific mental health issues. Past forums have focused on areas such as mental health payment systems.

Partnership benefits:

- One place at one Directors' forums per year – these forums are high-level briefings with eminent speakers on topical subjects
- Two delegate places at two technical Mental Health Finance Faculty forums where issues of particular significance to the sector are discussed
- One place at the HFMA Annual Mental Health Finance Faculty conference and discounted rates on additional places
- Exclusive access to faculty-specific content and supporting materials and newsletters
- Access to the faculty's closed LinkedIn discussion group
