The NHS in England at 75
A report from the
NHS Assembly

The engagement identified three shifts...

There is growing consensus that three big shifts are now needed. These shifts are all already under way in many places, and were featured in the NHS Long Term Plan in 2019. However, none are yet at sufficient scale or speed.

Preventing ill health

- Shifting funding to prevent + manage CVD and other causes of poor health (smoking & obesity).
- Working more effectively with partners to reach those at greatest risk.
- More boldly advocating for action on determinants of poor health.

Personalisation and participation

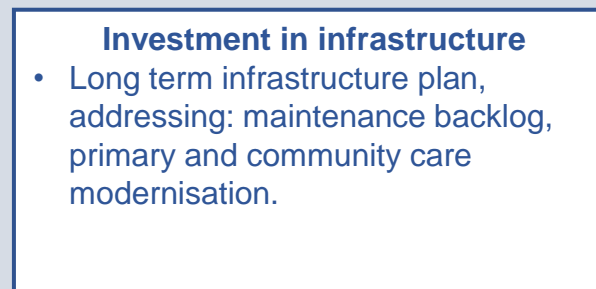

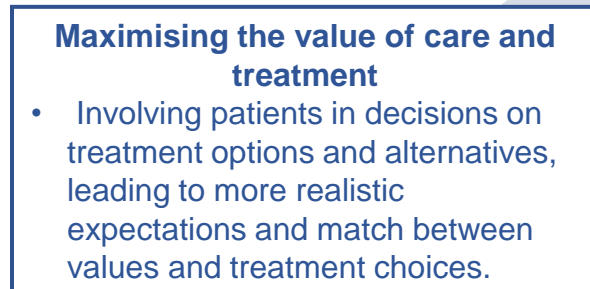

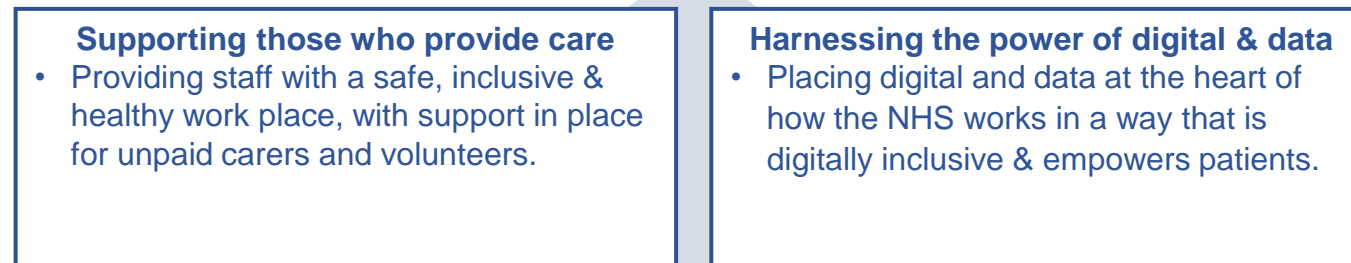

- More control in planning their own care
- Continuity of relationship with clinical teams
- NHS accountability framework giving great priority to patients' experience and voice, particularly those who have been marginalised historically.

From hospital care to co-ordinated care closer to home

- Accelerating plans to strengthen primary and community services.
- Universalising better care for complex needs and frailty based on community teams & hospital @home services, supported by hospital outreach.

And the enablers which underpin them...

Within these enablers, there are overriding messages of creating the right conditions for change; continuous system learning, innovation and improvement, and making use of a compact with the public, setting out what people can expect and what they can contribute.
