

Associate benefits

Associate status is available to any arms-length body, membership institution, academic or scientific entity, or non-profit focused organisation.

HFMA's Healthcare Costing for Value Institute supports the NHS to improve costing, turn data into powerful patient-level information, and drive value through collaborative working with clinicians, informatics and finance. Belonging to the Institute will help you strategically solidify your agenda in this crucial area, providing access to our network of trusts and healthcare organisations facing these challenges every day.

As a valued associate of the Institute, your organisation will be eligible for the following benefits:

- Networking with a combined audience of senior clinicians, senior finance and costing practitioners in the NHS, as well as with other associate members
- Free delegate places at every Institute event (excludes the Costing Together events) – two places for face-to-face events and four places for online events
- Recognition from the chair at all Institute events
- Branding recognition at all Institute events, on the website and in the Institute newsletter
- Full access to the Institute's resource library, with over 300 pieces of content including:
  - cutting edge case studies
  - sector specific PLICS toolkits
  - Value Challenge projects
  - presentation slides from every Institute event to date
  - videos from sessions and key speeches around costing and value
- Opportunity to propose a speaking session at all Institute national events
- Opportunity to propose a joint webinar with the Institute
- Opportunity to submit content for inclusion in the monthly Institute newsletter sent to all Institute member contacts
- Opportunities to propose ideas for value roundtable discussions

About us

The concept of 'value' in healthcare – maximising the outcomes which matter to people at the lowest possible cost – is increasingly seen as a key lever for supporting the delivery of high quality sustainable healthcare. The challenge is how to do this in practice – both at an organisational and system level with the move to more integrated care for local populations.

The Institute supports the NHS to improve costing, turn data into powerful patient-level information, champion multi-disciplinary engagement, and ultimately drive value across patient pathways.

It is hard to argue against the theory of value-based healthcare – it needs to become the focus for clinicians and finance alike as they look to deliver high-quality sustainable healthcare services.

We support our members to implement patient-level costing and deliver value-based healthcare through our four key themes:

“The Value-Based Healthcare framework requires, at its foundation, accurate, transparent, and actionable measurements of outcomes achieved and total costs incurred for treating a patient’s medical condition.”

The Healthcare Costing for Value Institute has created an environment that will empower NHS staff to transform healthcare delivery from volume to value.”
